Explainer:

There are many different pathways to degree level, it's not always a straight line.

Learning is life-long and you can hop on and off your path.

Explainer:

Don't worry, all schools and colleges have experienced Careers Advisors who can help with your choices.

You may decide to study A Levels after you've finished your GCSE's.

Or you might go on to college and take a BTEC, T level, Apprenticeship or other qualifications that are right for you.

You may decide that you want to work and study on an Apprenticeship.

An Apprenticeship is funded by the government and your employer.

You'll earn a wage, receive time off and gain skills and experience in your chosen career.
